We Love Our Pork!

Join us for the 40th Annual
Pork, Peanut, & Pine Festival
July 18 & 19, 2015
10am - 5pm

Bring the whole family out for the fun! This event celebrates three of Surry's agricultural products in a two-day festival of arts, crafts, music, and food. Artisans will display their wares. A wide assortment of native Virginia food vendors will be on-hand with menus that include world famous pork barbecue, fried pork rinds, grilled pork chops, sausage, ham biscuits, peanut pie, and peanut brittle. Bring your appetite and plan to stay all day! Admission is $5 per person, children 10 and under are free. The Pork, Peanut, & Pine Festival is held at beautiful Chippokes Plantation State Park in Surry.

Chippokes Plantation State Park

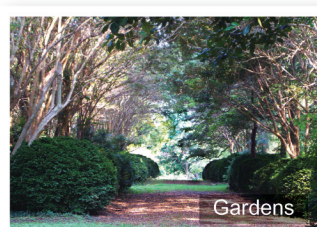

Chippokes ranks among the oldest working farms in the nation, and retains its original 1619 boundary. Preserved as a 1,683 acre State Park overlooking the James River, it features two 19th century manor houses, formal gardens, and dependencies. The attractions include a swimming complex, visitor center, picnic facilities, and horseback/hiking/biking.
